HUJAMBO

is an informative game which challenges you to think and talk with others about values in life.

HUJAMBO

hands you a lot of material, so you can give a thought to values in a playful, creative and yet serious way. Values that are important or that might become important in each person's life.

HUJAMBO

is Swahili and it means: "Who are you?"
A question which the game wants to help young people find an answer to.

HUJAMBO

is a publication of Don Bosco Youth-Net ivzw, which is produced with the financial support of the European Youth Foundation.

Everyone has their own cultural background which comes from the history, beliefs and traditions of their local life-styles. These life perspectives can lead to conflict if they are not appreciated or acknowledged by others. However, through intercultural dialogue these differences can be shared and understood and can lead to enrichment and progression.

Cultural background

Discussion

A letter to yourself

Write a letter to yourself, answering the following questions:

- Which cultural background or heritage is important to you?
- Have you ever been offended when people (accidentally) didn't take your cultural background into account?
- What do you know about the cultural background of 2 of the people in this group?

Guiding questions

1. What do you think of this assignment? Why?
2. Do you want to say anything about your letter to the group?

Cultural background - that part of culture which is invisible

Creativity

On a map of Europe: indicate where your grandparents, your parents and you have travelled. Indicate where you'd like to go in the next years.

Guiding questions

1. What has changed in the travel field over the last 3 generations?
2. Are you more interested than your grandparents in travelling or have other circumstances inhibited or stopped them from travelling?
